Bio: Meenu Walters is Managing Director for Neighborhood Defender Service of Texas and Legal Director for Neighborhood Defender Service, Inc. She started her career as a prosecutor, but once she entered the world of criminal defense, she never looked back. She fell into public defense when she was recruited to do death penalty work with the Regional Public Defender's Office for Capital Cases, and then went on to serve as the first Chief Public Defender for the Atascosa Regional Public Defender's Office. In 2022, she joined NDS, leading the organization's expansion into Texas. She strongly believes in the power of holistic public defense to change lives and communities, and is excited to be on this journey.
