Presentation:

Presenter: Aglae Eufrazio

Date: Monday, September 14, 2026

Time: 12:00 – 1:00 pm

CLE: 1.00, 0 ethics

Overview: This session examines the often-overlooked connection between immigration-related consequences and mental health in the context of criminal defense. Attendees will gain a better understanding of how these factors can influence a client's circumstances and learn practical approaches for recognizing and addressing them throughout the representation.

Bio: Aglae Eufrazio is an Assistant Public Defender - Immigration Attorney with the Dallas County Public Defender's Office, where she focuses on crimmigration analysis and advises noncitizens and their Assistant Public Defenders and court appointed attorneys on the immigration consequences to their criminal charges and convictions. Prior to this, she was a Senior Staff Attorney for the Removal Unit at RAICES – Dallas, where she represented noncitizens in removal proceedings and sought relief from deportation, including Asylum and humanitarian protections for her clients. She also had her private practice in Brownsville, Texas, where she is originally from, and represented noncitizens in removal proceedings, including the dehumanized Migrant Protection Protocols (MPP) program, and before USCIS. Before opening her private practice, she was a Clinical Fellow at St. Mary's University Immigration and Human Rights Clinic in San Antonio, Texas. She received her J.D. from St. Mary's University School of Law in 2016 and has been a fierce immigrant's rights advocate and immigration attorney since then.
